Fixed Income Market

The IIP (Industrial Production) for the month of September came at 4.4%, lower than the market expectation. Continued weakness in Capital Goods, slowdown in Consumer Goods and significant revisions to historical data were the main reasons. However, the IIP till date (April onwards) is in double digits.

On the inflation front, the headline inflation in October rose to 8.58%, in line with market expectations. Going forward, the base effect and falling food prices is expected to lead to a moderation in inflation numbers. However, a rise in fuel and commodity prices poses a threat to inflation. The GDP data for second quarter came in at 8.9%, largely driven by strong Industry and Agriculture numbers.

As per RBI data (WSS), the credit growth stands at 22% (yoy) and deposit growth at 15.3% (yoy). The foreign exchange reserves are at $298 billion. The tight liquidity conditions continue to exert pressure on the shorter end of the yield curve. Liquidity has been tight in the market largely due to Equity IPO's, regular central government borrowing and high cash reserve ratio. Market is awaiting further liquidity enhancing measures from RBI. We do not expect RBI to increase rates in the mid-December policy review.

As anticipated, SEBI announced auctions for allocation of debt investments to FII's. The government had relaxed the investment limit for FII's by USD 5 billion each in government securities and corporate debt in the month of September 2010. The present total FII investment limit in government securities and corporate debt stands at $10 billion and $20 billion respectively.

On the global front, after the quantitative easing in US, Ireland decided to accept emergency funding from EU/IMF for its banking industry. However, the threat of a potential downgrade by rating agencies still exists.

Equity Market

The Equity Markets corrected sharply in November. The key reason was renewed concern of sovereign default by Ireland and the contagion spreading from the European region, which could impede global recovery.

Towards the end of month, the news relating to a CBI investigation in mortgage loan related graft involving the banking industry and real estate players led to a sharp correction in public sector banks and real estate stocks. The telecom 2G scam developments and a possible cancellation of licenses led to a sell-off in certain telecom stocks.

However, on last day of the month, the GDP data for September quarter of 2010 was released. The real GDP growth of 8.9% exceeded market expectations and sentiments turned positive. The growth was significantly higher in agriculture, which augurs well for rural demand in consumption sectors.

From the Primary Market perspective, the Powergrid FPO which was offered at a 10% discount to market price raised USD 1.6 bn. The issue was subscribed 14.5x overall and 18.5x in Qualified Institutional Buyer (QIB) segment, thereby indicating strong pent up demand for reasonably priced equity offerings, by both retail as well as the institutional segment.

The two major sectors which performed well in November were Automobile and Information

Technology. For Automobile companies, the month of November was strong with strong growth in two wheelers as well as passenger cars. IT stocks continued to be preferred, as the depreciation of INR is a positive for their earnings.

Fixed Income Market Outlook

Despite IIP growth for the month of October at 4.4%, the Planning Commission is confident of achieving the growth target. Inflation has been declining due to fall in food prices because of a good monsoon. The RBI's comfort level for inflation is at 6%. However, global recovery and oil prices continue to be a matter of concern.

To manage the tight liquidity condition in the market, RBI has already taken measures like OMO (buy back of securities) and SLR reduction by 2% to continue till January 2011 end. Going ahead, we expect further measures like auction cancellation and further reduction in SLR. Currently the 10 year government bond is trading at around 8%. The market is awaiting the new 10 year benchmark early next year.

Equity Market Outlook

The recent correction has provided a good entry point to investors to enter the market at attractive valuations. Though some sectors like real estate and telecom may face headwinds based on recent developments, there are quite attractive opportunities in other sectors.

Globally, the Irish bailout package has allayed fears of a default. China is expected to continue tightening its economy, thereby moderating economic growth.

The strong Indian GDP growth will probably lead to a revision in FY 2011 expectations by around 25 basis points. This implies that GDP growth could come in the range of 8.75-9% for FY 2011. We believe Indian markets would continue to stand out in terms of risk reward for global investors.

We continue to remain positive on domestic consumption themes of Financial services, Automobile and Infrastructure. However, economic developments in China and developed economies will have a significant bearing on Indian markets. Any sharp FII outflow can impact sentiments negatively. We expect strong corporate earnings for the second half of FY 2010-11. We maintain our positive fundamental view on equity markets, going forward.
